Brainstorming (Incomplete)

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Agree

Publishers will make money from other sources: Now: people pay for internet connection > don't like to pay for available content e.g. articles, news, books > future: publishers switch to making money via ads > need to be seen to get more ads > publish everything online for free

Protecting the environment: now: pollution increasing > future: so bad > need more trees to make more oxygen > people try to reduce deforestation > BECAUSE paperless books/newspapers > cut fewer trees for wood > stop buying prints

Convenience

The internet makes it easier to access a multitude of books and news with just searching-> there is lots of news websites and e-books reader-> e.g I follow a telegram channel which share books for free and I mostly follow news on guardian website -> save money on necessities
Some of the e-books readers has a option to read the text load -> for example pdf-readers -> so its easy for books lover to read books whenever they are driving or cooking.

Advances in technology->easy-access + time-saving education: It is easier to copy and paste the content we are looking for.

Countries are becoming more and more similar because people are able to buy the same products anywhere in the world.

Do you think this is a positive or negative development?

It is said that countries are becoming similar to each other because of the global spread of the same products, which are now available for purchase almost anywhere. I strongly believe that this modern development is largely detrimental to culture and traditions worldwide.
