

When a building is designed, the most important factor is the intended use of the building rather than its outward appearance.

1. The intended usage of a ~~building~~ building is considered ~~as~~ the most crucial ~~aspect~~ factor, rather than its outward ~~apperiance~~ appearance, in ~~manufacturing the building~~ its design.

Commented [ET1]: Not the same as FACTOR

Aspect: جنبه ای از طراحی

Factor: عاملی که بر طراحی تأثیر میگذارد

Commented [ET2]: 1. Buildings are not manufactured, they are built or constructed.

2. The sentence is about the design of buildings, not their construction.

Commented [ET3]: Use referencing to avoid repetition. The use of a possessive adjective (its) helps you avoid using BUILDING again.

2. The most important factor in designing a building is the way ~~we~~ want to use it rather than its outwards look.

Commented [ET4]: Try to avoid a personal tone when it is not necessary, unless you are taking the General Training test.

3. A building's intended function ~~takes priority over~~ external appearance is the most important factor in the design process, not its external appearance.

Commented [ET5]: The task gives you a superlative. You aren't comparing two things and saying which one is more important than the other.

4. The most important factor in designing a building is the its intended use of the building

Commented [ET6]: See comment 3

instead of its outward appearance.

5. The most important parameter in designing a building is the intention of its usage its

Commented [ET7]: Awkward phrasing

intended usage rather than how it looks from the outside.

6. When a building is designed, the its intended use of it, outranks its outward appearance as is the most significant factor, not its outward appearance as.

Commented [ET8]: We normally use a possessive adjective instead of OF+PRONOUN.

Commented [ET9]: See comment 5

7. When designing a building is being designed, its purpose is more the most important factor

Commented [ET10]: Dangling: you have reduced the adverb clause without a shared subject.

than rather than its external appearance.

Commented [ET11]: See comment 5

Commented [ET12]: Without this, the information you are supposed to paraphrase is incomplete.
