

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying.

To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Disagree:

Without paying is impossible: even though cost reduce: eliminate the need for paper and publish > some cost inevitable: developing & updating software, sites or apps

- This actually repeats your opinion that "free" will not happen. You must say WHY it is impossible, e.g. "cannot cover costs".
- *No relevant conclusion has been drawn at the end. You should circle back to the topic and link your explanation to your opinion, e.g. if publish for free > go bankrupt > avoid this

Printed books always play significant roles: Sometimes second-hand books with reasonable prices, ALSO, counterfeit or low-quality copy of genuine masterpiece meet a lot of needs >> a plenty of people tend to buy this kind of materials

- This is unclear: a role in what exactly?
- I don't see any role being played here.
- This does not explain how the printed copy is different from the online one.
- You need to link this discussion to the future and draw a relevant conclusion.

A number of individuals love printed contents > touch papers: cutting-edge devices like tablets and laptops cannot substitute for conventional pen and paper

- There is no explanation here that explains TOUCH PAPER.
- PEN AND PAPER is about writing, not reading.
- You have made a claim, left it undeveloped and directly jumped to drawing conclusions: some people love to touch paper, so tablets and laptop cannot substitute paper.
