

Convenience: now: people dealing with increasing economic issues e.g. inflation > have to work more > future: 1) time shortage > have to prioritize necessary tasks e.g. spend time w/ loved ones, buy food & groceries > cannot go shop for books/newspapers + 2) homes too expensive > get smaller => need reading material: easy to access and use, easy to carry (on phone/tablet) & available everywhere, use less space => stop buying prints, read online instead

1. Finally, people will stop buying books and newspapers because of convenience. Nowadays, people are dealing with increasing economic issues, for example inflation, so they have to work more. In the future, because of time shortage, they will have to prioritize necessary tasks, for instance, spending time with a loved one, or buying food and groceries, so they ~~cannot~~ will not be able to go shopping for books or newspapers. Also, homes will be too expensive and will get smaller. As a result, they will need reading material that is easy to access and use, easy to carry, for instance on a phone or tablet, and available everywhere, and uses less space, so people they will stop buying prints and read online instead.

2. Finally, people will be looking for a more convenient way to read books and newspapers.

Nowadays people are dealing with increasing economic issues such as inflation, so they have to work more. In the future, they will deal with a time shortage, and will have to prioritize necessary tasks like spending time with loved ones and buying food and groceries. As a result, they will not have time to go to stores to buy books or newspapers. In addition, homes will be too expensive, resulting in people buying smaller ones. Therefore, ~~people~~they will need to have reading materials which are easy to access, use and carry on their phones or tablets, and ~~also~~ these materials also need to be available everywhere ~~with using and use~~ less space. Consequently, people will stop purchasing printed books and newspapers and will read them online.

3. ~~Finally~~ ~~convinience~~ Convenience is ~~an other~~ another crucial reason. Since people deal with increasing economic issues ~~becuase of the~~ like inflation, they ~~must~~ have to dedicate more time to work. This result in a shortage of time ~~in the future~~. ~~Then people,~~ and people will have to prioritize ~~nessecary~~ necessary tasks to do, such as spending time for ~~thier~~ their families or ~~purchace~~ purchasing food and ~~grocceries~~ groceries. ~~It-This~~ leads ~~people to not able~~ ing them not to be able to go to shops for books and newspapers. ~~Furthuremore,~~ Furthermore, the more ~~expencive~~ expensive homes become, the ~~more small~~ smaller they become. As a result, reading ~~matrial~~ materials ~~should~~ will have to be accessible ~~and~~, easy to use and carry, ~~such as~~ web browseres for example on phones and tablets, ~~bieng be~~ being be available everywhere, and use less space. Therefore, ~~as~~ people will avoid buying ~~printed newspapr~~ newspapers and books, ~~they and~~ they will tend to read online contents.

Commented [ET2]: 1.You need a comma after this linker.
2.You have used ANOTHER, which does the same job.

Commented [ET3]: According to your notes, this is an example, not a reason.

Commented [ET5]: There is no cause/effect relationship here according to your notes.

4. In addition, reading on paper will be less convenient. Nowadays people are dealing with economic issues like inflation, so they have to work more hours. ~~in~~ As a result, they will face ~~with a~~ shortage of time in the future, because of ~~that which~~ they ~~should will have to~~ prioritize their necessary tasks like spending time with their love ones, buying groceries and providing food, so they ~~can not will not be able to~~ go ~~for~~ shopping for books and newspapers. Beside that, the price of homes ~~are will become too~~ expensive and ~~the size of it get they will become~~ smaller. Therefore, they people will need to read materials that are easy to access and useable ~~in~~ anywhere, and ~~they~~ can be ~~carry~~ carried easily on their phones or tablets ~~that is~~ which are available everywhere and use less space. ~~s~~So they will stop buying prints and ~~they~~ will read online instead.

Commented [ET6]: Size decreases = The object becomes smaller.

Commented [ET7]: You are referring to HOMES, which is plural.

Commented [ET8]: Too far from its reference

5. Another important reason why people will stop buying printed books and newspapers in the future is that reading online ~~is~~will be much more convenient. As people continue to face economic problems such as inflation, they will have to work longer hours in order to earn enough money. This, in turn, will leave them with less free time, meaning that they will have to give priority to essential activities, such as buying groceries and spending time with their families, rather than going to shops to purchase books or newspapers. Moreover, with housing becoming increasingly expensive, ~~people~~they are likely to live in smaller homes, where there will be less space for storing printed materials. Since digital books and newspapers can be easily accessed on smartphones or tablets, carried anywhere, and stored without taking up any physical space, they will become a far more practical choice. As a result, people will gradually stop purchasing printed publications and choose to read them online instead.

Commented [ET9]: This is too long an unnecessary.

Commented [ET10]: This is a reason why people in the future will do something, not a current fact.

6. Finally, convenience will play a crucial role when making decisions. Nowadays, people are dealing with increasing economic issues, such as inflation, resulting in them having to work for longer hours. Firstly, This means they will face ~~time shortage~~ a shortage of time in the future, leading them to prioritize necessary tasks, such as spending time with their loved ones, so they will not be able to spare their time to go shopping for books and newspapers. Secondly, Besides, because of expensive accommodation costs, they will need to downsize. As a result, since they will need reading material that is easy to access, available everywhere, and uses less space, they will stop buying prints and read online instead.

Commented [ET11]: Linking with numbers can become mechanical and should be avoided.

Commented [ET12]: You have eliminated the part about being easy to carry and the examples you had there.
