

MASTER IELTS ESSAYS

SUPER INTENSIVE COURSE

Brainstorming & Idea Development for Opinion Tasks (Continued)

Writing an Opinion Essay based on Notes – Part 1
(Introduction & Body Paragraphs)

Ebrahim Tahassoni
CELTA, CertTESOL, IELTS Ac. 9

Brainstorming

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Agree

Getting too difficult to stop online sharing: Now: no rules to supervise social media > people share everything > getting too difficult for publishers, authors, journalists to stop them > future: stop trying to control > let everything be published online for free, make money via advertising instead

Better access: Now: economic conditions > work longer and longer hours > future: everyone too busy to go shopping for books/newspapers, cannot have fixed reading times > need to access news & books whenever and wherever they can read e.g. break time at work > read online only, stop buying prints

People prefer to spend on internet only: Paper getting more expensive > future: printed books/newspapers too expensive for everyone > Almost everyone spend money to have access to the internet > they can use internet for any kind of usage including having access to different websites and download anything they want > there will be no need to spend more money for buying printed books and newspapers

Disagree

There will be strict rules about copyright: Now people can download books for free > authors will not stand for it and sue those websites > there will be strict rules > more websites will be subscription based > only those who pay for the subscription can have access to books and other contents

People mistrust the contents on the internet: Technology era > more people will have access to the internet > anyone will post whatever they want online > increase the risk of misinformation > people will not be aware of the full truth > frauds will have the chance to manipulate people > printed newspapers/books are more reliable

Paying for printed books and newspapers will be worth it when it comes to health: Remote work is becoming more popular > People use their phones or computers to work > looking at the monitor several times a day > hard on their eyes > prefer to read printed books and newspapers during their break time

FULLY AGREE

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Fully Agree

Getting too difficult to stop online sharing: Now: no rules to supervise social media > people share everything > getting too difficult for publishers, authors, journalists to stop them > future: stop trying to control > let everything be published online for free, make money via advertising instead

Better access: Now: economic conditions > work longer and longer hours > future: everyone too busy to go shopping for books/newspapers, cannot have fixed reading times > need to access news & books whenever and wherever they can read e.g. break time at work > read online only, stop buying prints

People prefer to spend on internet only: Paper getting more expensive > future: printed books/newspapers too expensive for everyone > Almost everyone spend money to have access to the internet > they can use internet for any kind of usage including having access to different websites and download anything they want > there will be no need to spend more money for buying printed books and newspapers

CA: people will read on paper to protect eyes

Refute/Solution: will get used to it after a while

FULLY DISAGREE

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Fully Disagree

There will be strict rules about copyright: Now people can download books for free > authors will not stand for it and sue those websites > there will be strict rules > more websites will be subscription based > only those who pay for the subscription can have access to books and other contents

People mistrust the contents on the internet: Technology era > more people will have access to the internet > anyone will post whatever they want online > increase the risk of misinformation > people will not be aware of the full truth > frauds will have the chance to manipulate people > printed newspapers/books are more reliable

Paying for printed books and newspapers will be worth it when it comes to health: Remote work is becoming more popular > People use their phones or computers to work > looking at the monitor several times a day > hard on their eyes > prefer to read printed books and newspapers during their break time

CA: read online for convenience

Refute/Solution: not as important as reliability and health

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Generally Agree

Getting too difficult to stop online sharing: Now: no rules to supervise social media > people share everything > getting too difficult for publishers, authors, journalists to stop them > future: stop trying to control > let everything be published online for free, make money via advertising instead

Better access: Now: economic conditions > work longer and longer hours > future: everyone too busy to go shopping for books/newspapers, cannot have fixed reading times > need to access news & books whenever and wherever they can read e.g. break time at work > read online only, stop buying prints

However: Some people mistrust the contents on the internet: Technology era > more people will have access to the internet > anyone will post whatever they want online > increase the risk of misinformation > people will not be aware of the full truth > frauds will have the chance to manipulate people > printed newspapers/books are more reliable for some esp. politicians & professionals who need accurate info

MIDDLE VIEW

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Disagree with second part but agree with first

There will be strict rules about copyright: Now people can download books for free > authors will not stand for it and sue those websites > there will be strict rules > more websites will be subscription based > only those who pay for the subscription can have access to books and other contents

However: Better access: Now: economic conditions > work longer and longer hours > future: everyone too busy to go shopping for books/newspapers, cannot have fixed reading times > need to access news & books whenever and wherever they can read e.g. break time at work > read online only, stop buying prints

Strong View: Brainstorming Notes

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Fully Disagree

There will be strict rules about copyright: Now people can download books for free > authors will not stand for it and sue those websites > there will be strict rules > more websites will be subscription based > only those who pay for the subscription can have access to books and other contents

People mistrust the contents on the internet: Technology era > more people will have access to the internet > anyone will post whatever they want online > increase the risk of misinformation > people will not be aware of the full truth > frauds will have the chance to manipulate people > printed newspapers/books are more reliable

Paying for printed books and newspapers will be worth it when it comes to health: Remote work is becoming more popular > People use their phones or computers to work > looking at the monitor several times a day > hard on their eyes > prefer to read printed books and newspapers during their break time

CA: read online for convenience

Refute/Solution: not as important as reliability and health

Strong View: Introduction

Paraphrasing the task + Clear Opinion

In the future, nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

It is said that/Some people believe that... + I strongly/generally believe/agree/disagree...

Strong view:

It is said that, as people will be able to access online resources to read any content they want for free, they will stop buying printed newspapers or books in the future. I strongly disagree with this prediction mainly due to legal concerns.

Strong View: Support Body 1

There will be strict rules about copyright: Now people can download books for free > authors will not stand for it and sue those websites > there will be strict rules > more websites will be subscription based > only those who pay for the subscription can have access to books and other contents

Practice:

One reason is that copyright rules will be strict. Nowadays people can download books from many websites for free, which will lead authors not to tolerate it and sue those websites. As a result, there will be strict rules, causing more websites to be subscription based, and only those who pay for the subscription will be able to have access to books and other contents.

HOMEWORK: Support Body 2

People mistrust the contents on the internet: Technology era > more people will have access to the internet > anyone will post whatever they want online > increase the risk of misinformation > people will not be aware of the full truth > frauds will have the chance to manipulate people > printed newspapers/books are more reliable

In addition,...

Strong View Essay (incomplete)

It is said that, as people will be able to access online resources to read any content they want for free, they will stop buying printed newspapers or books in the future. I strongly disagree with this prediction mainly due to legal concerns.

One reason is that copyright rules will be strict. Nowadays people can download books from many websites for free, which will lead authors not to tolerate it and sue those websites. As a result, there will be strict rules, causing more websites to be subscription based, and only those who pay for the subscription will be able to have access to books and other contents.

In addition, ...